

Sandland Tactical Card Battle

Sealed Tournament Rules

- Welcome to Sandland Tactical Card Battle Sealed Tournament

32 or 64 players will battle it out with a single sealed Sandland Tactical Card Battle deck each. You don't need anything that is not included to play.

- Tournament Structure

Rounds will be 40 minutes long, Best of 1 matches. This will give everyone enough time to play full games of Sandland Tactical Card Battle and learn all the rules.

Prior to round 1, there will be a 20 minute period for players to build their decks, set up, and ask questions of the judge staff.

The tournament will be Swiss-style, meaning that even if you lose your match, you are not eliminated. At the end of the final round, the 2 players with the best record will advance to a grand final playoff to compete for a special prize.

Number of Players	Number of Rounds	Expected Time of Event
32	4	4 hours
64	5	5 hours

- Grand Final Playoff

The Grand Final playoff is a B01 match between the top 2 players from the Swiss rounds. If this match ends in a Draw, the player who was ranked 1st in Swiss will be declared the winner of the Grand Final.

Other Regulations

- Players will use their Sandland Tactical Card Battle deck exactly as it comes out of the box. You cannot combine cards from multiple decks or remove cards from your deck. The only cards that may be swapped into your deck are the Promotional cards included.
- For this event, if a match ends in a Draw, it will be counted as a Double Loss.
- Players are required to use the play sheet that is included with their Sandland Tactical Card Battle deck. This will ensure everyone understands the game state and follows the rules!

- If a player or players have a question regarding a card effect, game rule, or interaction, they must ask a judge before advancing the game state. Once the game state is advanced, the Bandai team member can still answer questions, but can't go back in the game play. Don't be afraid to ask!
- Most importantly, have fun playing the Sandland Tactical Card Battle and exploring the exciting world of Sandland!
